EXHIBITIONS

THREE TO VISIT

1 | TATTON PARK BIENNIAL
Tatton Park, Cheshire
8 May to 26 Sept
A fossilisation machine, a fibreglass lion and two tons of Arctic ice will be among the mysterious objects in this exciting biennial, and a raft of equally intriguing artists including Ryan Gander (left) will be responsible.
(www.tattonparkbiennial.org)

2 | MARC QUINN
White Cube Hoxton Square, London N1, 6 May to 26 June
Marc Quinn continues to explore his fascination with what it means to have a body in a series of sculpture-portraits of subjects — Michael Jackson, Pamela Anderson, Catman and Buck, a "man with a pussy" — who have pushed corporeal boundaries themselves.
(www.whitecube.com)

3 | TOY BOATS
National Maritime Museum, London SE1, Now to 31 Oct
Britannia may not have ruled the waves for a while now, but the fascinating antique toy vessels on show here — from paddle steamers to battle ships and submarines — are sure to bring out the repressed seamen in all of us.
(www.nmm.ac.uk)